For Immediate Release:

Action® Performance Series of O.R. Table Pads recognized as one of the most innovative products of the year.

Hagerstown, MD, USA, October 25, 2010: In March, Action Products, Inc. launched its Performance and Performance Plus Series; two lines of operating room replacement table pads designed for pressure management and infection control. This month, those inventive pads have won an award for being one of the most innovative products of the year. Surgical Products magazine is getting ready to present the 2nd annual Excellence in Surgical Products (ESP) Awards. They compiled over 50 of the year's most innovative surgical products. Then, they invited readers to vote for their favorites.

“We were honored to be recognized by the surgical community. Our engineering team worked diligently to create a design that addressed both pressure management and infection control,” says Janet Kaplan, Marketing Manager of Action Products, Inc.-Medical Products Group. The products ranked at the top of the winners circle and will be published in the November/December issue of Surgical Products Magazine.
